25X1 1. [ ] At the suggestion of Mr. Stoertz and Mr. Kirkpatrick, who felt that the Agency had some responsibility in assuring complete representation of the military intelligence components at the briefing of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee on 13 July, I suggested to James Kendall, of the Subcommittee staff, that the Subcommittee might want to consider extending an invitation to the Department of the Army for this briefing. Kendall said this was an oversight on his part and asked if I would contact the Army and extend them an invitation. This was done through a phone call to Colonel Roger Carter, OSD.

25X1 2. [ ] I called Bob Smart, House Armed Services Committee staff, and informed him that our presentation to the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee would be extremely short and we did not feel that there would be anything of significance in this briefing for the members of the Subcommittee but that we expected to be in touch with them in the near future to discuss matters in this general area. This is perfectly agreeable with Smart.

I suggested in connection with his interest in the Soviet fly-by that the Air Force had a prepared briefing on this which he might wish to have given to the Subcommittee. Smart said he was to hear this briefing next Tuesday in connection with a Reserve briefing.

25X1 3. [ ] Handcarried to Sam Crosby, House Appropriations Committee staff, a letter from the Director to Chairman Clarence Cannon reporting our progress in implementing the payment of separation compensation to selected individuals who are released from Agency employment as surplus personnel. This report is made in accordance with the request from the Chairman, by letter dated 12 January 1961.
